

IROC Subgrant FAQs

The following are frequently asked questions regarding the FY 2017-2018 Idaho's Response to the Opioid Crisis (IROC) Subgrant. The question and answer period will close on Friday, June 30, 2017. A final version of this document will be provided by 5 pm Mountain Time on Monday, July 3, 2017 to allow all applicants to incorporate the responses to the FAQs into their subgrant application.

Is there only one subgrant for the entire state or can our community apply for the grant and serve those in our region?

Only one subgrant will be awarded. The recipient will need to submit a plan to provide the required services and activities throughout the state.

Can a government agency apply for the subgrant or is it just for non-profits?

Applicants must be non-profit entities registered with the Idaho Secretary of State.

Can a Crisis Center or Recovery Center apply for the subgrant?

If a Crisis Center or Recovery Center meets the criteria of being a non-profit entity registered with the Idaho Secretary of State, it could apply.

Does the subgrant application need to address every Service and Activity listed in Section III.A.?

Yes, all services and activities must be addressed.

Would one agency be able to apply as a single agency and have contracts with different agencies to complete the services and activities?

Yes, the subgrant will be between Idaho Health and Welfare and the selected grantee, but the services may then be sub-contracted out to other organizations.

Can one agency apply for only a specific activity, but not all?

No, an application must address all criteria in the subgrant or it will not be eligible.

The subgrant requirements say applicants must provide their services statewide. What qualifies as statewide?

To qualify as statewide, all services and activities must be offered to at least two (2) communities in each of Idaho's seven (7) regions.

Would an agency qualify if they had a central location and offered one or two multi-day statewide retreats and announced them for anyone in the state to attend?

No, this scenario would not reasonably allow people throughout the state to participate. The purpose of IROC is to connect people throughout the state with multiple pathways of recovery in their community. Requiring participants to travel across the state would not meet the criteria of being low or no cost to the participant.

Would an agency qualify if they had a central location, but visited 5-6 communities across the state throughout the year?

An agency can have a central location, but they must provide multiple opportunities throughout the year in at least two (2) communities in each of Idaho's seven (7) regions for all services and activities.
